Jean Toomer S Cane Cane is a 1923 novel by noted Harlem Renaissance author Jean Toomer. The novel is structured as a series of vignettes revolving around the origins and experiences of African Americans in the United States. The vignettes alternate in structure between narrative prose, poetry, and play-like passages of dialogue. Cane (novel) - Wikipedia First published in 1923, Jean Toomer's Cane is an innovative literary work—part drama, part poetry, part fiction—powerfully evoking black life in the South. Rich in imagery, Toomer's impressionistic, sometimes surrealistic sketches of Southern rural and urban life are permeated by visions of smoke, sugarcane, dusk, and fire; the northern world is pictured as a harsher reality of asphalt streets. Amazon.com: Cane (New Edition) (8601419834914): Toomer ... Jean Toomer's Cane is one of the most influential works in the history of African-American literature. A "literary work" is truly the most appropriate term for Cane, certainly more appropriate than "novel." Cane is comprised of sketches written in prose, poems, and even a play. Some poems are freestanding episodes, while other are works of verse incorporated into the prose. Cane Study Guide | GradeSaver Jean Toomer wrote Cane in 1921 and 1922, inspired most directly by his experience as the principal of the Sparta Agricultural and Industrial Institute in rural Georgia. Toomer had grown up and lived largely in urban centers on the east coast -- Washington, DC and New York -- and the culture of the deep south was one of shock, but also inspiration. Jean Toomer | Poetry Foundation Jean Toomer was an American poet and novelist commonly associated with the Harlem Renaissance, though he actively resisted the association, and modernism. His reputation stems from his novel Cane, which Toomer wrote during and after a stint as a school principal at a black school in rural Sparta, Georgia. The novel intertwines the stories of six women and includes an apparently autobiographical thread; sociologist Charles S. Johnson called it "the most astonishingly brilliant beginning of any Ne Jean Toomer - Wikipedia In an era distinguished by movement and change, Jean Toomer's dedication to the analysis of self-identity characterized modernist literature of the twentieth century. As he wrote in Cane, "There is no such thing as happiness. Life bends joy and pain, beauty and ugliness, in such a way that no one may isolate them. Jean Toomer:
