In Malaysia, our contract law is basically governed and enforced by the Contract Act 1950. The remedy of specific performance presupposes the existence of a valid contract between the parties to the controversy. The terms of the contract must be definite and certain. This is significant because equity cannot be expected to enforce either an invalid contract or one that is so vague in its terms that equity cannot determine exactly what it must order each party to perform. Business Law in Malaysia: Contract Law Dicey and Morris lay down a simple rule, [1] that 'the formation of a contract is governed by that law which would be the proper law of the contract if the contract was validly concluded'. In Malaysia, the essential elements of a contract are Offer, Acceptance, Intention to create legal relations, and Consideration.
